

Abstract

An improved brush for cleaning surgical, medical and veterinary instruments adapted for cleaning tubes and passages is described. The improved brush comprises bristles captured between two helical wire segments with the bristles being antimicrobial.